Dear Subscriber,

Are you a business traveller with very little spare time but many business partners around the world?

Or are you a leisure traveller with limited vacation budget but still thrilled to discover the world?

If so, we now have exciting news for you:

A trip around the globe, stopping only at two destinations for at least 24 hours, is now possible using selected Star Alliance Round the World (RTW) fares. Up to now, a minimum of three stopovers was required for all RTW tickets. This change increases the number of itineraries on the Star Alliance network which can be used for RTW travel.

You as a customer will now find it easier to build your bespoke routing from the vast offer provided by the 28 member airlines, operating more than 18,400 daily flights, connecting 1,300 destinations in 191 countries.

RTW fares generally offer better value for money than individual one-way tickets on separate airlines for the same journey.

So book your trip today and travel the world!

Please also enjoy reading our latest member carrier news below.

With best regards,

Jonas Walter,
Star Alliance Coordinator Switzerland
